Student Internships with Rutgers Climate and Energy Institute

Rutgers Climate and Energy Institute is looking for highly motivated Rutgers students to fulfill two hourly positions beginning April 2024 and at least through the 2024-2025 academic year.

1) Undergraduate student intern to assist with developing website content, social media and outreach materials, assistance with events, and research, as needed.

2) Graduate student intern to assist with all aspects of event planning and implementation.

Applicants for both positions should demonstrate excellent writing, communication, and organizational skills and keen attention to detail. Graduate student applicants should be proficient in excel for budget tracking. In-depth knowledge about climate change and energy not required but some familiarity is a plus.

To apply, submit a resume (please identify two references and their contact information) and a writing sample via email no later than 5:00 PM April 10, 2024 to Dr. Oliver Stringham, Research Analyst, Rutgers Climate and Energy Institute (email: oliver.stringham@rutgers.edu).