

RCEI Student Support Program Application

Eligibility is limited to Rutgers Ph.D. students whose major area of research involves one or more of the following dimensions of climate change and renewable energy or energy conservation scholarship:

- Earth system science
- Human dimensions of climate mitigation, adaptation, and resilience
- Renewable energy, technology, and energy conservation
- Climate change communication and environmental humanities

The fund provides support to enable Rutgers Ph.D. students to participate in conferences, workshops, symposia, professional meetings, field activities, and visits to federal or state agencies or universities for educational or research purposes. Eligible expenses include attendance fees, lodging, meals, and transportation. The maximum award for any one student will be $500 unless special circumstances can be identified by the student's faculty mentor.

Students who have received funding through this program in the past are eligible to apply. Awards will be made based on available funds and number of applicants. Priority will be given to students who have not received funds in the past.

Any questions can be addressed to Oliver Stringham in an email to rcei_contact@rutgers.edu

RCEI Student Support Program Application

Please select the one RCEI focus area that most closely matches your PhD research.

We note that your research may involve more than one focus area, but for this question we ask you choose the most applicable one.

- Earth system science relating to climate change, including Earth's physical, geochemical, and biological systems.
- Human dimensions of climate mitigation, adaptation, and resilience. This includes understanding the causes of climate change, the societal, economic, and behavioral impacts of climate change and the ways in which people and institutions (i.e., policy) respond to these changes.
- Renewable energy, technology, and energy conservation. This includes the use of technology to harness energy from sustainable sources like solar or wind power, and the implementation of methods to reduce energy consumption and waste.
- Climate change communication and environmental humanities, including raising awareness and inspiring action through the arts and humanities

Provide up to three paragraphs describing specifically what you are requesting support for and an explicit link to how such an award is in keeping with the purpose of the RCEI Student Support Program (i.e., specify how the student's research explicitly relates to one or more of the above dimensions of climate change). You may use the text box below or upload a file below.

A large, empty rectangular text box with a thin black border, intended for the user to provide their response to the prompt above. The box is currently blank.
