

Join Us for Two Exciting Days of Microbiology Discovery and Networking!

Trayes Hall, Douglass Student Center
100 George Street, New Brunswick, NJ 08901
Directions

Day 1: Rutgers-wide Microbiology Symposium

Thursday, May 8, 2025

Hosted by the Department of Biochemistry and Microbiology
(details to follow)

Day 2: Theobald Smith Society Spring 2025 Symposium

Friday, May 9, 2025

Hosted by the Theobald Smith
Society
(details below)

Submit Once, Present Twice! Submit your poster to both symposia and keep it up for both days!

THEOBALD SMITH SOCIETY SPRING 2025 SYMPOSIUM

Friday, May 9, 2025

8:30AM - 3:15PM

Trayes Hall, Douglass Student Center

100 George Street, New Brunswick, NJ 08901

Directions

AMERICAN
SOCIETY FOR
MICROBIOLOGY

Program will feature the 2025 Waksman Award Lecture by Dr. Donna E. Fennell and presentation of the 2025 Theobald Smith Society Young Investigator Award to Dr. Jason H. Yang.

Donna E. Fennell, Ph.D.

2025 Waksman Award Recipient

Jason H. Yang, Ph.D.

2025 Theobald Smith Society
Young Investigator Award Recipient

You must be a society member to attend.

Student memberships are only $5.

Regular memberships are $25.

Lifetime memberships are $200.

Join the Theobald Smith Society:

<https://www.njmicrobe.org/join>

Breakfast and lunch will be served!

Register (by May 2):

<https://bit.ly/49yx62q>

Submit abstracts (by Apr 25):

<https://bit.ly/3Vyaidw>

For more information, contact:

Ray Sullivan (raysully@njmicrobe.org) or Jennifer Sun (jennsun@sebs.rutgers.edu)

Also featuring talks by:

AMERICAN
SOCIETY FOR
MICROBIOLOGY

Barry Kreiswirth, Ph.D.

Center for Discovery and Innovation,
Hackensack Meridian Health

Valerie J. Carabetta, Ph.D.

Cooper Medical School, Rowan
University

Liisa Veerus, Ph.D.

2025 ASM Young Ambassador for NJ

Adrianna Borgia, M.S.

Managing Editor, American Society for Microbiology

Visitors may park in Lot 70 & Douglass Deck
Register your vehicle to avoid risking a citation